LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS 'LUCIA DE LAMMERMOOR'

Maria Fara, as Lucia, Achieves Impressive Vocal Climaxes at the Belasco.

It is said that to hear "Lucia de Lammermoor" without a cast of unusual excellence is quite unprofitable, so that the large audience present at the Belasco Theater last night was yet another tribute to the individual and collective talent of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company.

So firmly established in operatic repute has Donizetti's melodious masterpiece become that its performance during the company's brief season in this city was in a way inevitable, and the keen interest and absorbed attention with which the auditors followed the poignantly pathetic score are sufficient to forbid any suggestion that the popularity of "Lucia de Lammermoor" may be passing.

Maria Fara was the Lucia of the evening. She produced her tones well and achieved some impressive vocal climaxes. Her acting, too, particularly in the "mad scene," was quite appealing. Giuseppe Agostini is an admirable artist and sang the lower, Edgar of Ravenswood, most agreeably. He enunciated his Italian delightfully and particularly effective. This part is very evidently his best performance.

Milo Picco's splendid baritone was heard to advantage as Ashton, and the Bucklaw of Luciano Rossini and Pietro de Blasi's character were also effective. The famous "Sextet," as goes without saying, had to be repeated, as was the beautiful harp solo of the first act. The performance, in brief, evinced anew the general excellence of the company and its ability to do full justice to the scores of the standard operas.

Edith Alvord sang a duet in "Cavalleria Rusticana" Wednesday evening instead of Mary Kestner. Tonight Verdi's delightful "Masked Ball" will be rendered.

CHINESE LAUNDRYMAN "LABORER" UNDER LAW

So Lee Yuen, Who Swore He Was "Merchant," Is Arrested by Agents of Uncle Sam.

Lee Yuen, 28, and Lee Jin Quong, 45, Chinamen, living at 246 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, where the latter conducts a merchandise shop, were arrested yesterday by immigration officials and Washington police on charges of violating the Chinese exclusion act of this government.

It is alleged that Yuen, proprietor of a laundry in northwest Washington, swore he was a merchant in his affidavit for papers for his departure from and return to the United States. Under the law, a laundryman is classed as a laborer, which gives him less privileges than a merchant immigrating to or re-entering this country. It is also alleged Quong made affidavit supporting Yuen's claims.

The Chinamen were taken before United States Commissioner Anson Taylor and held under $2,500 bonds for their appearance at a hearing today. They were locked up in the first police station in default of the bonds. The arrests were made by A. R. Archibald, an immigration inspector from Baltimore; Police Detective Baum; and United States Deputy Marshal W. E. Ryan. The prosecution of the cases will be conducted by Assistant District Attorney Charles W. Arrh.

Gain 300 Yards in Month.

London, Oct. 7.—Sir Ian Hamilton, the British leader in the Dardanelles, reported today that a month's fighting at Suvla Bay resulted in a gain of 300 yards for the allied forces.

Henry VIII was the first English sovereign to be styled "his majesty."

Nearly All of Wilson's Cabinet for Suffrage

Woman suffrage in the United States received a decided boost when it became known that President Wilson and most of the members of the Cabinet are in favor of female suffrage. Secretary of War Garrison has announced his intention of supporting it, and so has Mr. Tumulty, Secretary to the President. Secretary of Treasury McAdoo in a formal statement announced that he would vote for the amendment in New York. Secretary of Commerce Redfield made a similar announcement, informally, and Secretary of Labor Wilson, who is from Pennsylvania, declared himself in favor of votes for women.

BARON MAY SEND DEATH WARNING, SAY OFFICIALS

Austrian Believed Within Rights in Advising Countrymen to Quit U. S. Munitions Plants.

Information was received here last night that labor leaders in New York had been advised that Baron von Hausser, the Austro-Hungarian consul at Pittsburgh, had published a notice warning Austro-Hungarians employed in American munition factories that they would be subject to the death penalty on their return to their native land if they continued in the service of such corporations. It was further stated that Baron von Hausser had caused this notice to be published in accordance with instructions issued by the Austro-Hungarian Embassy.

It was pointed out by officials that like notices have been promulgated by Austro-Hungarian consulates in many cities, but that up to date no cognizance had been taken of the matter. Officials explained that there is a great difference between the notice issued by Baron von Hausser, which outlined a threat of death if the matter of strikes issued in munition plants might be disrupted.

Officials held that Baron von Hausser had merely caused to be published a notice outlining a law of Austria-Hungary in which natives of the dual monarchy in this country may be punished by death if they continue to serve plants engaged in making munitions for the allies. The act of Baron von Hausser, so far as it is understood here, does not constitute an offense that would warrant the cancellation of his exequatur.

GIRL HELPS KILL BOY IN PRANK WITH PISTOL

He Shoots at Clock that Cut Short Career.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—The parents of Miss Mildred Kelly, of 1238 North Conestoga street, informed her this evening that at 10:30 o'clock her sweetheart, Earle Elliott, 16 years old, would have to leave. He had been staying much later.

When the clock showed that it was 10:30 the girl drew a pistol from his pocket, aiming at the clock and saying he would shoot it for cutting short his career.

Miss Kelly seized Elliott's arm and drew it down. As she did so he pulled the trigger and the bullet entered his body near his heart. In five minutes he was dead.

British Imports Increasing.

London, Oct. 7.—British imports during the nine months ended Sept. 30, increased $497,069,565 over the same period last year, and the exports decreased $328,283,355, it was announced today by the board of trade.

"I Told You So," Says Horoscope

Apropos Wilson's Engagement

Do the stars in their courses pause to cast the shadow of good or evil destiny about the lives of men? Do Taurus and Gemini give strength; Scorpio and Sagittarius destroy; Leo and Virgo bestow love and happiness? They do—and then some!

The Washington Herald contains your steady scientist who can prove by the stars that there is nothing in it. Imagination is the pass key to eternal youth! That is why The Herald prints a daily horoscope for the benefit of its readers to whom the stars wheeling in the firmament bear messages of good and ill.

We do not know the name of the particular seer who furnishes this daily horoscope. The McClure Newspaper Syndicate distributes his wisdom, and no doubt they keep him in a high tower on some inaccessible mountain top feeding on adjectives and elderberries and getting a strange hold on secrets of the astral spheres. We don't know his name, but believe us he is some seer! Zoroaster and Ptolemy and Copernicus had nothing on him when it comes to throwing horoscopes. No indeed!

All of which is anticipatory and introductory to the gist of our tale, which is that if you read your daily horoscope for Wednesday, October 6, like a good Rostecruian, you saw it inscribed that "Washington comes under a rule that is even as promising as a marriage will cause widespread good."

And lo! and behold! as all the other fairy stories say, on that same day, to-wit, Wednesday, October 6, news of the engagement of President Woodrow Wilson to Mrs. Norman Galt was made public.

This isn't just guessing at it, as the poor saps of palm readers and card jugglers have to do. This is reducing prophecy to a plain, ordinary everyday lead-pipe clinch.

And, believe us, when the stars are so outspoken as that about an affair of the heart, the parties concerned have a right to look pleased. Yea, indeed!

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel." Friday, October 8, 1915.

The lunation of this date falls in a place read as likely to cause intense depression among all classes of men and women. Financial panics are indicated. Serious drains on public revenue again are foreshadowed. A strike more serious than any that has taken place recently is threatened. Agriculture is subject to malign influences and wheat especially may suffer.

Mortality among the great is prognosticated and in Europe royalty will mourn before another, new Moon. Uranus is in a position said to indicate surprising progress in aviation here in the United States, but accidents will multiply.

For this day the signs are unusually good. Many planets are in benefic aspect.

There is a sign read as propitious for the luxury of those who control the movements. While a man in high place will be severely criticized he will gain in popularity by an incident of historic interest.

The aspect is encouraging for commercial enterprise. Merchants should make the most of this way of the stars.

Women have the forecast of fame. Leaders will rise in a time of great exigency and their counsel will prevail.

Uranus has extraordinary influence. Those who read the heavens predict that humanity will awaken to a general recognition of spiritual or psychic phenomena and that when the annals of the European war are written new "miracles" will be recorded.

Rome is to be the scene of sensational occurrences. The Pope will meet many problems.

As Jupiter remains the ruling sign for the day this month the outlook for the country is encouraging.

Mars passing through Leo indicates excitement of an unusual character in France and Italy. As the month ends the King of Norway comes under a hostile influence.

Persons whose birthdate is 19 have the day of their life. They are the lucky ones and are indicated. Travel and change are indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be alert and persevering. These subjects of Libra usually are ambitious and endowed with executive ability. (Copyright, 1915.)

MEN WHO 'DRESS' SHOPS FORM AN ORGANIZATION

Window Trimmers Respond to Invitation of Charles J. Columbus to Join Retail Merchants' Association.

The Retail Merchants' Association is to have another unit in its chain of bodies representing the commercial interests of Washington. It is the organization of a section composed of "display men, or window trimmers, of the National Capital, who hold their first meeting last night to take steps toward the formation of an organization.

The meeting was called in the rooms of the Retail Merchants' Association by Charles J. Columbus, secretary of the association, and a plan of organization was discussed in detail.

Secretary Columbus pointed out the advantages that accrue to display men and automatically to the firms by which they are employed through the display lifted window displays from the mere plane of "another place to put some goods" to the modern show windows which in Washington express artistic discernment and expression.

POSTMASTERS OBJECT TO CAR MAIL BOXES

Fourth-class Officials on Route of Trolley Line to Laurel Say Receipts are Lowered.

The Postoffice Department has received a large number of letters from fourth-class postmasters of towns along the City and Suburban Electric Railway between Laurel and Washington claiming that the installation of mail boxes on the electric cars along this line has cut down their receipts considerably.

They are paid according to the cancellation in their offices, and letters deposited in the boxes would otherwise go through their hands. Mrs. O. H. Klinger, postmistress at Riverdale, has suggested that the mails be cancelled in the various offices and then placed in the car boxes as a remedy.

The only postoffices along this electric line not affected are those at Laurel and Hyattsville.

Colored Citizens Summoned.

Ferdinand D. Lee, president of the colored citizens' committee, which was in charge of the reception and banquet to colored veterans and members of the Women's Relief Corps, in Convention Hall, September 25, has called a meeting of the general committee for Saturday, October 10, at St. Luke's Hall, Thirtieth and U streets. At this meeting the auditors will report on expenditures and receipts.

NATION-WIDE STRIKE, THREAT OF KEPPLER

Head of Machinists' Union Says They Will War Against General Electric Company.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Plans for tying up construction work throughout the country wherever the products of the General Electric Company are being used as a means of bringing about the eight-hour day, for installing 10,000 workmen as striking in the local plants, were outlined in an address today by J. J. Keppler, vice president of the International Association of Machinists. Keppler is actively in charge of the local strike.

"If we cannot come to an agreement with the company in a few days," he said, "I want you to be prepared to help me bring pressure to bear in other cities. General Electric products are being used in hundreds of buildings and plants now in the course of construction throughout the country. Many union men who are installing them are affiliated with workers on strike here. They are bound to refuse to handle General Electric products if called upon to do so."

"We should not be hasty in taking a step in the direction I have pointed out for it would be a serious one, but we should be fully prepared to strike a decisive blow with this weapon if we must resort to it."

An attempt of one wing of the strikers today to draw the power-house employees of the plant into the strike was shouted down in a union meeting. If these men were called out the city's street car system, lighting plant, and waterworks would be tied up. Most of their power comes from the General Electric plant.

FRAUD IN ELECTION; GIVES UP POSITION

Pittsburgh Politician Causes Sensation in Court, Following Scandal in Balloting.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 7.—With the shifting of the primary aftermath fight from the recount room to the courts today, a new sensation was created when C. W. Crider, apparent victor in the fight for the Republican aldermanic nomination in the Twenty-fifth Ward, admitted he had personal knowledge of frauds committed by the incumbent, Charles B. Milligan, a civil war veteran, of the nomination.

Crider said that with the knowledge that eighty-eight cruises were made in the district in the counting out of Milligan, he could not accept the nomination under any circumstances and conceded the victory to his opponent.

In the court fight which opened today the opponents in the fight for the prothonotary nomination are each making an effort to have districts, in which majorities were given to the recount, thrown out.

HOLY NAME REVIEW STAND PLAN DROPPED

Churchmen Will Watch Pageant from Balcony of New Willard Hotel.

The parade Sunday afternoon of the Holy Name Society of the District and Maryland will be reviewed from the Pennsylvania avenue balcony of the New Willard Hotel and not from the stand which it was proposed to erect at Fifteenth street and the Avenue. It was decided yesterday that sufficient time did not remain within which to construct as large a stand as had been planned.

The platform upon which prominent clergymen will celebrate the benediction of the holy sacrament following the parade will be erected tomorrow morning on the Monument Lot just north of the shaft and at the foot of the hill. It is expected that more than 50,000 persons will gather for the service.

The parade will start at 2:30 o'clock from the Capitol, passing along Pennsylvania avenue to the Monument Lot. Servants of mounted policemen, troops from Fort Myer, twenty bands, and more than 15,000 Holy Name Society members will be the parade.

Holy Trinity Church will enter 500 men and 150 boys in the parade. They will form at the church in Georgetown and start at 1:30 o'clock for the Capitol, headed by the troops from Fort Myer.

Arrangements for this march were completed last night at a meeting of the society in the parish hall. After the details of the pageant were discussed, a hand-work altar cloth, made by Mrs. Joseph R. Freeman, was presented by the society to the church.

The society at St. Peter's also met last night to formulate plans for the parade. This parish expects to enter about 20 men and 100 boys. Members of the society at St. Aloysius Church will form at the church, North Capitol and I streets and march, more than 2,000 strong, to the Capitol.

More than 300 university students will march in the pageant. One hundred from the Catholic University will fall in with the delegation from St. Anthony's Church, Brookland. Two hundred from Georgetown University will participate.

"BEAUTY SHOP" CASE DROPPED

Appeal Court Dismisses Suit of Philander Johnson.

The appeal of Philander Johnson from the decision of the District Supreme Court dismissing his suit brought against Raymond Hitchcock, Channing Pollock, Renold Wolf, George M. Cohan, and Sam Harris for alleged plagiarism yesterday was dismissed by the District Court of Appeals.

The plaintiff contended that the defendants had incorporated in "The Beauty Shop" some of the scenes and dialogue contained in a play entitled "R. Fawcett," which was written by the plaintiff and submitted to the defendants for purchase, but rejected.
